Gehman-Swartley Family

When this record was begun, the writer did not intend to have it printed in pamphlet form, but simply collected the data for the historian of the Gehman Association. Since a number of descendants of Elizabeth Gehman were anxious to have a record as soon as possible, the writer had it printed. This same record will appear in the "History of the Gehman Family" when completed of which A. James Gayman of Doylestown, Pa., is historian.

Each biography is consecutively numbered in the order of seniority, beginning with the oldest child of Elizabeth Gehman and Abraham Swartley. Each child in a family of whom any further record is made also has a number, and by referring to the particular paragraph under that number the reader may discover additional facts concerning the child and its progeny.

The dates in parenthesis after any name refer to the birth and death of the person. If a person is still living the fact is indicated by a long dash. If a date is not available the fact is indicated by a blank space. An asterisk means that the child died at an early age.

Elizabeth Gehman was the fourth generation beginning with Christian Gehman. In order to conform to the reckoning by generations in other records of collateral branches of the family accordingly, this history begins with the fourth generation. Elizabeth Gehman's ancestral line follows:

First Generation : Christian Gehman.

Second Generation : Abraham Gehman.

Third Generation : Rev. Samuel Gehman.

Fourth Generation : Elizabeth Gehman.

FOURTH GENERATION

ELIZABETH GEHMAN (March 3, 1792—April 22, 1881) born in Rockhill township, Bucks county, Pa., married Dec. 21, 1809, Abraham Swartley (Nov. 2, 1785—Dec., 1872). He was born in the Rosenberger homestead in Franconia township, Montgomery county, Pa., third son of John Swartley (John Schwerdle) who was born in 1754 in Necker, grand duchy of Baden, Germany; married Magdalena Rosenberger. He migrated to America, arriving in Philadelphia, Sept. 30, 1772, in the ship Minerva from Rotterdam.

"John Swartley's (John Schwerdle) passage to America was paid upon his arrival at Philadelphia, by Rev. Henry Rosenberger, who thus acquired the right of his service for the term of three years, as provided by laws of that period. He came to Franconia and worked faithfully on the Indian Creek farm, and found favor in his master's eyes as a worthy young man; moreover he found favor with his daughter, Magdalena, and after obtaining his freedom, they were married. He was well rewarded for he obtained a good wife and inherited a fine farm, which he transmitted to his descendants, who hold a large portion of it to the present time."—Rosenberger and Swartley History.

Elizabeth Gehman, second child of a family of eight children, was a daughter of Rev. Samuel Gehman, a minister of the Gospel in the Mennonite church near Telford, in Rockhill township, Bucks county, Pa., for forty-seven years; his remains are buried in the adjoining graveyard. His father was Abraham Gehman and his grandfather was Christian Gehman.

Abraham Swartley, Elizabeth Gehman's husband, lived on a farm adjoining his father's property and all their married life was spent there. They were Mennonites and are buried in the Franconia Mennonite burial ground. They had twelve children:

ABRAHAM S. ROSENBERGER (Aug. 19, 1843—), born in Franconia township, Montgomery county, and married Oct. 3, 1868, Catherine C. Allebach. He received a good education and on leaving the common school at the age of fifteen took a two-year course at Kulpville Seminary and a short teachers' preparatory course at Pottstown under Robert Cruikshank; started to teach school in the Fall of 1862, teaching during the winter months and working on the farm the rest of the year. After teaching a few years, in order to be more proficient, he attended the Carversville Normal Institute one summer. In 1869 he settled in Hatfield township and after teaching ten consecutive terms bought, in 1872, a farm which he successfully conducted until 1912 when he sold it and moved to South Hatfield.

Mr. Rosenberger has always been an active Republican and has held office of a local nature for many years. He was a school director for one year and in 1890 was a delegate to the Republican State convention at Harrisburg, Pa. He was assessor of Hatfield township for eighteen years. He has a number of books on various subjects and has always employed almost every leisure moment by reading, thus making himself an intelligent and well-informed man of his community. He was skillful in most all trades he required.

After the age of sixty-five he took up the art of pen drawing in which he failed in his younger years. His beautiful pictures from copy and original designs are admired by many persons. He has made from memory many pictures of important things seen in his travels and from descriptions he has made large drawings. He is the author of a description of the battlefield of Gettysburg from memory and of a long article on the method of baptism. He drew a bird's-eye view of Hatfield station and surrounding town, and on Jan. 27, 1915, he finished a similar one of South Hatfield which the people of the town greatly admired. Both Mennonites.

SAMUEL S. GEHMAN was born in 1869 and worked on his father's farm until he became clerk in the general merchandise store of John B. Clemence at Morwood and later for John D. Souder at Telford, Pa. He began business for himself in Souderton in the wholesale confectionery line, and later became proprietor of the Souderton bakery. Moving to Quakertown he followed the same business until he disposed of it. Then he went to Hatboro, Montgomery county, Pa., where he had part interest in a bakery and assumed the general management, finally buying out his partner. The business flourished so that incorporation was deemed advantageous and the Hatboro Bakery Company was chartered with Samuel S. Gehman as president, Vincent S. Gehman as secretary, and Charles Toick as treasurer. The company has since established another plant at Ambler. In 1915 the Hatboro plant was sold and the corporation moved to Ambler.
